The "new wave"

As we move into summer, more than two years since the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic, the words "new wave" are probably the last thing anyone wants to hear. Yet it is true that recent UK data (as well as data from Florida and other places) indicates that sublineages of the Omicron variant, BA.4 and BA.5, are kicking off a new wave of cases. With the pandemic no longer dominating the news in the way it once did, it's worth taking stock of where we are and what needs to be done. After all, these variations on Omicron are not more severe, but they do have the capacity to reinfect people, even those who have had a previous version of Omicron. This is further evidence that reaching "herd immunity" (where enough people are vaccinated or infected to stop further circulation) against Covid-19 is probably impossible.Looking over the past two years, and across different places, a wave of Covid-19 cases every three months seems to be the pattern. So it's not surprising that this is happening again, and we should expect another wave this winter. While the idea of the disease circulating might be anxiety-provoking, we now have a wealth of scientific knowledge and tools to deploy. The focus should be on what these cases mean for long Covid and for hospitalisations. Plus, there's good news: new research indicates Omicron is indeed milder than Delta by a substantial amount in terms of hospitalisations and deaths. Of course, it would be better to avoid getting Covid-19 once, or repeatedly, given the increasing number of negative health outcomes the disease is linked to. The challenge is how best to do that, balanced against the costs entailed in avoiding Covid completely: the vector for this disease is other humans who we (largely) enjoy seeing, being close to, or must see for work reasons. Humans are social beings, and for many people a large part of our quality of life is mixing with others, as seen by the rapid return to festivals, celebrations and social events. The cost-benefit calculation has shifted for many people over time, as other more pressing priorities have taken over. Avoiding infection in 2020 by restricting interactions to certain people and limited settings was understandable, given there were no vaccines or therapies. The cost was high, financially and socially, but waiting for a vaccine meant there was a payoff to being cautious and delaying infection. Analysis from the Financial Times indicates that for most people in England, Covid-19 has become less lethal than seasonal flu because of the high levels of immunity after vaccination and the reduced severity of Omicron compared with Delta. In 2022, most people want to interact and live life as they see best (in a democracy where freedom is valued), given that disease severity has been blunted with vaccines.

Dear Congresspersons of conscience, if you don't remove Gandhi obstacle, you're helping Modi

ear Congresspersonsscarcely a day passes without a lofty lament by you about India's impending destruction at the hands of Narendra Modi's sectarian government. What you never seem to reflect upon, however, is your complicity in Modi's ravages. You may regard yourselves as defenders of India. But you are, in actuality, the abettors of the effort to disfigure India. There is no greater threat to Modi than a rejuvenated Congress party. And there is no greater obstacle to the rejuvenation of Congress than the Gandhi dynasty. By failing to remove that obstacle, you help Modi entrench himself in power.We are three years from the last Lok Sabha election, and two years from the next. Yet your party functions without a full-time leader. Instead, despite two successive historic electoral defeats in the past eight years, you continue to genuflect to the "high command" that has presided over your party's devastation. And rather than a constitutionally ordered internal democracy, you operate by the divine commandments dispensed by the dynasty. When asked to confront this scourge, you parrot the dogma that Congress will collapse if the Gandhi family is ejected from its apex. But why should a Congress incapable of selfreform in this moment of existential crisis for India survive? What purpose does a Congress that cannot retool itself to rescue the country serve?Rahul Gandhi can shrug off every electoral defeat as a learning lesson because you have allowed Congress to be treated as an open university for the education of one hopeless mature student. plenty - "something more tremendous than war," as US President Woodrow Wilson put it in 1919 - but delivers comparatively little. Unprecedented measures aimed at isolating Russia have not stopped the fighting in Ukraine, or forced President Vladimir Putin out. The ruble has recovered and the cost of squeezing Moscow is rising. ability to wage his war of conquest in Ukraine - and that is happening. Capital controls are supporting the ruble, but even high energy prices won't stop economic contraction in the near term and, crucially, stagnation thereafter. The central bank is run by capable technocrats but now has to plan for "structural transformation," a euphemism that ultimately describes the embrace of autarky and isolation, in a country running short of everything from buttons and bleaching chemicals for paper to spare parts for passenger jets.Success - by which we should mean a solution that protects Ukraine's sovereignty and interests - will require more. More efforts to build resilience among allied governments and populations, combined with realism on timing and cost, because freedom is not free and all of this takes time. The EU's oil embargo, for example, does not even kick in for months, and because of inventories, not all trade restrictions are yet hitting home. It will also mean more efforts to tighten enforcement, close loopholes and edge towards further energy restrictions, even tariffs to cut off the Kremlin's revenues faster. And it means more weapons and more diplomacy because sanctions don't work alone. The alternative is Putin has highlighted, reflects and clear aims can help.

hurts. But time is on Russia's softens the punitive measures. It will encourage Moscow to prolong the fighting, when there's an opportunity to demonstrate resolve instead. Most damning, it would suggest Putin is right to think that whatever their high-minded ideals, Europe, the US and their allies, buckle under economic sanctions and strategy at the International Institute for Strategic Studies in allows both the deterrent effect and the shock value of risk that allies bring to the table in and weakens Kyiv's negotiating position.Russia's economic fortress has helped it weather sanctions better than it might have otherwise and, though not all defenses worked, policy makers have contained the worst. A stronger ruble, thanks to capital controls and mandatory conversion of export revenue, is keeping price increases in check. And, of course, Moscow is still raking in cash from energy exports. The Kremlin is making the best of this propaganda win. But look closer, and Russia is only because of central bank actions, but because demand is paltry and confidence weak.

'Forever chemicals' are killing whales - and harming us

scientists noticed a curious Limpact on the stress hormones of North Atlantic right whales. Ships are ubiquitous in our oceans but, for a brief window, immediately after the planes flew into the twin towers, there was a dramatic drop in traffic along the North Atlantic eastern seaboard, reducing underwater noise. While the world above ground was reeling, our underwater neighbours were thriving.So often we think of the golden age of whaling as being over. Japanese and Icelandic whaling ships are now pariahs in the international community. But too often, out of sight is out of mind, and it remains easy to ignore the impact of our actions above ground on marine life. However, whales are increasingly forcing us to take note, as more of them than ever are beaching on our shores.Whales have always beached across UK at the foot of Scotland's most coastlines, but there is nothing natural about this latest surge in the Forth Bridge. But what about chemical pollution, an issue very much in our self-interest?It is imperative that we understand that whales are the canary in the coalmine for our relationship with chemical pollutants. Too many "forever chemicals", or PFAS, still persist in nature, nicknamed as such because they barely degrade. PCBs are one such chemical, and despite them being banned 40 years ago, killer whales are still dying in our waters from PCB poisoning. So deadly is the longterm impact that researchers suspect it is responsible for the crash in the birthrate we have seen in our only resident UK killer whale pod - the "West Coast Community" - which hasn't had a calf born in 25 years.

BB Muringla, modern architect of Chakma Council finally gets new CEM Limboo language, no more Aizawl, June 13 : A month after a political stalemate

Gangtok, June 13 : BirkhaBahadurLimboo, famously known as BB Muringla, breathed his last on June 8 at Gangtok's STNM Hospital.A Padma Shri recipient, Muringla was known for his contribution to Limboo language and literature. He died at the age of 80 years due to a brain haemorrhage caused by high blood pressure concerns.Muringla is known for hand-written books from primary to secondary level, reconstructing the grammar and making easier for readers and learners of Limboo language, creating a comic series in Limboo based on the stories of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Chandra Shekhar Azad and Deshbandu Chittaranjan Das.He is also credited with writing of a ceived many awards and Limboo-Nepali- English felicitation from internasigning the Limbu flag (Nissa) and Pagha. He also wrote many poems, and short stories in Nepali.In 1982, he designed the Limboo script for letterpress with untiring efforts. In 1992, he also designed the Limboo script for computers. In 2000, the computer fonts for Limboo language was borrowed by J.R. Subba. Based on it, Karun Thapa developed "Sirijunga fonts" and his associates (J.R Subba, Y.P. Subba, Yehang Laoti and DelendraSubba) further improved the Sirijunga fonts.He was awarded the Padma Shri by the Government of India in 2017 for his contribution to Limboo language and literature. Besides that, Muringla had re-dictionary in two parts, de-tional, national and local organizations.Born in 1942 in Linchom, West Sikkim to father Lal Man Nugo, Muringla developed curiosity towards the Limboo language at the tender age of 10. In 1952, when he was in Class 2, he met known Limboo literary figure Iman Singh Chemjong at his residence. The first Limboo books that he read Tum YakthungNingwaphuSapla Tum Yakthung and Nisshigek Sapla influenced his curiosity towards Limboo literature. These books were collectively written by three Limboo writers - Iman Singh Chemjong, Padam Singh Muringla (Apatan) and Man Bahadur Khamdhak.

Muringla's father Lal Man Nugo was one of the financial contributors towards the publishing of these books. Muringla's mother was keen on having her kids to study the Limboo language, so she invited UjjalmanSubba (Mangyung), a retired Army man, to school her children. Gradually, more children from the village joined. This paved the way for the idea of the School. Committee Muringla's father Lal Man Nugo and Pem Dorjee Bhutia, then Mondal of the village, took it upon themselves to run the Committee School. UjjalmanSubba took was 25 to 30 students. Muringla studied at the Committee School till class IV then went to TashiNamgyal Higher Secondary School in Gangtok from Class V till Class VII. The love towards Limboo language and literature stayed alive through writing letters in Limboo to his brothers and parents. Those letters became the continuation of learning the Limboo language among them.In 1959, Muringla left for Darjeeling for further studies. In Class 11, he met Hem Chandra Pradhan, who brought a turning point in his life. Hem Chandra became a source of connection once again between Muringla and Iman Singh Chemjong. After getting Chemjong's address, he slowly established a connection with him through exchange of letters.Council - one Sangha seat and one Tsong seat. Gradually, BharandhojLimbu (Tamling) suggested the inclusion of Limboo language in the schools of Sikkim.He and Lal Man Nugo went to meet erstwhile Sikkim King Chogyal Palden Thondup Namgyal to request for inclusion of the language. After many visits as the president and Nugo as teaching of formal Limboo the treasurer. The enrollment Language (as Tsong Language) in government schools in Sikkim was approved by the Sikkim Council.Post Chogyal era in 1975, Muringla was appointed as manuscript writer for Limboo Language on honorarium basis. On April 24, 1976, he was appointed as manuscript writer for Limboo language in the Department of Education, Government of Sikkim. He started to study the Sirijunga script and refixed the number of vowels and consonants as education in Limboo was in its infancy. Within one year, he provided handwritten books from classes 1 till class 5 called Sirijunga Soksok. The absence of technology during those days did not stop him from producing books - he made handwritten books from class 1 till class 12.In 1979, Mondal Muringla was promoted as Text Book Officer (TBO) in the Department of Education. Professionally, he has spent his 13 years of government service as a TBO for Limboo language from primary level up to college level until he retired as Joint tive elephants in the state. The Forest department has taken the decisions a few days after the transportation of 10 elephants to a temple in Gujarat.DNA profiling is a method to differentiate between individuals of the same species using samples of their Deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA). According to the Forest Department, DNA profiling will help the forest department estimate the population of captive elephants as well as stop illegal activities, including poaching and selling of elephants.Notably, 10 elephants were recently shipped to the Ambani-run trust facility in Jamnagar, Gujarat from Arunachal Pradesh. As per reports, the 10 elephants - mostly sub-adults - were domesticated and purchased from a few owners from Chowkham in Namsai district by the Radhe Krishna Temple Welfare Trust of Jamnagar. However, many organisations in Arunachal Pradesh have expressed displeasure over such whiffing of animals from the Northeast to other parts of the country. According to the documents available with The Assam Rising, the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest (Wildlife and Biodiversity) issued permission to transfer these on May 31 under the Wildlife (Transactions and Taxidermy) Rules, 1973. As per the documents, six males and four females were being transferred from Namsai to one Radhe Krishna Temple Elephant Trust in Jamnagar.

government institutions. BJP MP Varun Gandhi, who often makes headlines for being critical of the ruling Narendra Modi government, extended his special thanks to AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi today. Gandhi thanked Owaisi for raising the issue of unemployment in his speech and mentioning data shared by him on Twitter. According to Varun Gandhi's estimates, as much as 60 lakh positions are lying vacant in government institutions."The unemployment is at its peak in nearly three decades. On one hand, the youth is feeling demotivated over non-availability of jobs, on the other hand - even going by the government figures - 60 lakh jobs are lying vacant," Varun Gandhi had tweeted earlier. Owaisi, it seems, used the same figures in one of his speeches recently and even attribute the data to Varun Gandhi."I am grateful that my questions raised on employment were mentioned by @asadowaisi ji in his speech," Varun Gandhi tweeted in Hindi along with a video clip of Owaisi's speech.Owaisi, in his speech, slammed the government for not being able to provide enough jobs to the youth. He also accused the government of giving fire to the communal issues to deviate the youth's attention from the mainstream issues like jobs, education and health. This is not the first time that Varun Gandhi is seen indulged in an act against the party line. Earlier too, Gandhi has embarrassed the BJP on multiple occasions. In November 2021, Gandhi had written a letter to PM Narendra Modi to accept the farmers' demand for a statutory MSP guarantee for their crops, saying their movement wouldn't end without it. The MP from Pilibhit MP had even asked PM Modi to take action against Union minister Ajay Kumar Mishra 'Teni' for the violence in Lakhimpur Kheri without taking his name.Earlier, Gandhi had publicly sided with the farmer leader on the issue of now-repealed farm laws.

'Desh badal raha hai' : Kapil Sibal

Advocate Kapil Sibal, who quit the Congress recently, was re-elected to the Rajya Sabha from Uttar Pradesh as an independent backed by the Samajwadi Party. A day earlier, the properties of two people accused of rioting were demolished in Saharanpur where stone-pelting had taken place as well. Meanwhile, a body of advocates in Prayagaraj has e-mailed a petition to the Chief Justice of Allahabad High Court against the demolition of a house of the alleged mastermind of the June 10 violence here by the Prayagraj Development Authority (PDA) The building map of the house of the accused, Javed Ahmad, had not been approved by the PDA, according to an official of the agency. Five advocates from an association, Zila Adhivakta Manch, claimed in the petition that the owner of the house, demolished on Sunday, was Javed's wife Parveen Fatima. The said house was given to Fatima by her parents before her marriage, so Ahmad had no ownership over the house and the plot, hence the demolition was against the law, claimed the plea which was e-mailed to the Chief Justice of Allahabad High Court on Sunday. The petition also said that in order to justify the demolition, the PDA had pasted a notice on the house on June 11, mentioning a show-cause notice of a previous date. Neither Ahmad nor his wife had got the show-cause notice, it claimed. The petition stated that social worker Ahmad was arrested on the night of June 10, and an FIR was registered against him at Khuldabad police station on June 11. The advocates, who have filed the petition are KK Rai, Mohammad Saeed Siddiqui, Rajvendra Singh, Prabal Pratap, Ravindra Singh and others." Javed Ahmad's house -- JK Ashiyana -- is located in the Kareli area of Prayagraj. Police personnel and a JCB machine reached the Kareli police station around 10.30 am and the demolition commenced around 1 pm," PTI quoted a senior PDA official as saying on Sunday."The house was built without getting its map passed by the PDA. For this, he was issued a notice on May 10 and was told to present his side on May 24. On the given date, neither Javed nor his lawyer turned up. No document was presented as well, and hence on May 25, demolition orders were issued," he further said.Superintendent of Police (City) Dinesh Kumar Singh told on Sunday, "In the morning, some of Javed Ahmad's family members collected a few of their belongings and left the place through the back door. As of now, no one is inside the house." Senior Superintendent of Police, Prayagraj, Ajay Kumar said the estimated value of the house was Rs 5 crore. The SP (City) said the police searched the house and found many objectionable items which were seized, adding that these will be included in the investigation. Notably, the row over the remarks against Prophet Mohammad escalated last week as several Muslim countries denounced them, prompting the BJP to suspend Nupur Sharma.

of India and the Department of Biotechnology, Government of India. IIT Guwahati researchers collaborated with 151 Army Base Hospital, Guwahati; Tolaram Bafna Kamrup District Civil Hospital, Guwahati; Guwahati Neurological Research Centre (GNRC), North Guwahati; and North Eastern Indira Gandhi Regional Institute of Health and Medical Sciences (NEIGHRIMS), Shillong," a statement by IIT Guwahati read."Highly functional mobility for amputees requires devices with advanced features which are expansive and cannot be afforded by many. Further, affordable prosthetics that are available in the market have many functional limitations. In addition, the Indian lifestyle and uneven terrain require prosthetics with specifications unique to India, which are not widely available in the market," it further stated. A team led by Prof. S Kanagaraj, Department of Mechanical Engineering, IIT Guwahati, set out to tackle these issues. Prototypes of their models developed by this research team are currently undergoing trials. Highlighting the key areas of their research, Prof. S Kanagaraj said, "The knee joint developed by our team has a spring-assisted deep squat mechanism, which helps to use Indian toilet system more comfortably; the knee rotating mechanism helps to have crosslegged sitting; the locking mechanism helps to reduce the fear of falling of patients while walking in unknown terrain; adjustable link length in a knee helps to have either more stability or easy flexing depending on age and requirement of the patients. Overall, the knee joint is designed to meet the Indian lifestyle which other products fail to fulfil."Furthermore, IIT Guwahati said in a statement that the Prosthetic leg is tested as per international standard loading conditions up to 100 kg body weight.Reduced weight of prosthetic leg is achieved by selecting suitable polymers, aluminium alloys and stainless steel for different components. A cost of around Rs 25,000 is ensured using the technology.

Primary TET corruption : Calcutta

(June 13). A section of job seekers have filed cases alleging corruption in recruitment raising the question why 269 people were specifically given an extra mark in the examination. The board had responded saying that there was something wrong with a question in that year's (2017) TET exam. But the Calcuttar High Court asked why the rest of the candidates did not receive that extra mark. The judge also remarked that the litigants were able to prove the allegations of corruption in the Primary TET which has resulted into a CBI inquiry.

ministerial, security advisors` and senior officials dialogue, foreign office consultations and coordination in the global arena, complemented by diverse business, cultural and people-to-people contacts," he wrote. The Ambassador highlighted that Russia and India were among the first in the world to establish the practice of annual bilateral summits. The XXI Summit in December 2021 in New Delhi was held in person, despite the COVID-19 pandemic, and the introduction of the "2+2" ministerial format became yet another landmark, he added."Our positions on core issues remain similar or coinciding, stressing the need to uphold the central role of the United Nations towards just and equal multipolarity and opposing unilateral and confrontational approaches. We continue close coordination on the agenda of BRICS as well as the G20 and the SCO, which India will chair in 2022-2023," he continued. Russia and India continue to successfully implement flagship initiatives, which make our cooperation unparalleled, Alipov stressed in his foreword for the Magazine. The Ambassador wrote at length about these initiatives. Among them are the Kudankulam nuclear power plant construction and advanced defence ties within the "Make in India" and "Atmanirbhar Bharat" programmes such as AK-203 rifles manufacturing, combat aviation and main battle tanks production as well as frigates, submarines, Brahmos and other missiles projects. The best-of-a-kind S-400 systems delivery is proceeding well according to the schedule, Alipov wrote. In the forward, the Russian Ambassador also covered the bilateral trade and cooperation between the two countries. "With the increased volumes of bilateral trade by more than 45 per cent in 2021, this positive trend is supplemented in 2022 by intensified cooperation in energy and fertilizers," he wrote.Furthermore, he stated that priority is given to the Far Eastern and the Arctic dimensions, implementation of the North-South transport corridor project and an early conclusion of the FTA between the Eurasian Economic Union and India. with ongoing projects in connectivity, diamond processing, forestry, healthcare and pharma sector, tourism, railways, metallurgy, civil aviation, shipbuilding, oil refinery and petrochemicals, there are plenty of new opportunities for the Indian business in the Russian market, especially against the backdrop of withdrawal of many Western companies," he added. Alipov said that Russia "deeply cherishes equal and respectful relations" with India. Continuing, the Ambassador noted that the cooperation between India and Russia plays the role of a defining factor for global peace, stability and sustainable development."We are confident in the future of our bilateral ties and are ready to move forward in utilizing their potential and exploring new horizons for the benefit of the people of our two friendly nations," he said expressing the confidence in the bilateral relations between India-Russia.Concluding his foreword, the Ambassador said that Russia will further strive to strengthen international peace and ensure global security and stability with a view to establishing a fair and democratic international system that addresses global issues on the basis of collective decision-making, the rule of international law, indivisible security and the generally accepted principles of equal rights, mutual respect and non-interference in domestic affairs

Tragic death of cow by electrocution

Assam Rising, Laharighat, June 13: Incident a hapless cow got electrocuted and died on the spot at Bhuragaon market under Laharighat subdivision this morning to the shock of local people including the owner of the cow. Sources said that a resident of the area close to the market had tied his cow to a short post with rope to let it freely graze. While grazing the cow got close to an electric pole beside the market and got electrocuted. It lay sprawled on the ground and writhed in agony before dying within minutes. The local people, deeply shocked by the incident, complained that they had already been informed about the short circuit electric pole, but APDCL staff never came to decharge them. The local also complained that in many places loose wires or coils hang from electric poles in charged condition but, despite being informed, the APDCL staff never come to remove the loose wire or discharge them. This has become a major source of danger for small children and animals moving near the electric poles.

Why Bangladesh didn't protest Nupur Sharma comments on Prophet Muhammad like other Islamic Nation?

New Delhi, June 13 : The controversy triggered by remarks made by two former BJP functionaries against Prophet Mohammad is India's "internal issue" and it is not an attention-grabbing matter in Bangladesh unlike in some other Muslim nations, a senior Bangladeshi minister has said, as he dismissed criticism that the country's government is "compromising" on the issue. Information and Broadcasting Minister Hasan Mahmud also "congratulated" the Indian government for taking legal action over the issue and said that any statement against the Prophet should be condemned. Talking to a group of visiting Indian journalists here, he noted that an FIR has been registered in India on this issue and hoped that further action would also be taken. To a question about the fundamentalists accusing Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina-led government of compromising on the issue, he said, "the Bangladesh government is not compromising over the remarks against the Prophet and it will never do that. I myself have condemned it...I have condemned the issue in a public meeting."In the context of the Bangladesh government not officially condemning the issue, Mahmud called it an external matter for his country. "It is not an internal matter (of Bangladesh), but an external issue. This is India's internal issue. Whenever something like this hap pens in the world, some Islamic parties protest here too and it usually happens," he said. Here in Bangladesh, it is not much an attention-grabbing issue as it is for Arab countries, Pakistan and Malaysia, he said. "'If anything is said against Prophet Mohammad anywhere, it should be condemned. We congratulate the Indian government for taking legal action against those who commented on the Prophet," Mahmud said. The BJP suspended its national spokesperson Nupur Sharma and expelled its Delhi media head Naveen Kumar Jindal after their controversial remarks against the Prophet, as it sought to defuse a row over the issue. Amid protests by Muslim groups over the remarks, the party also issued a statement aimed at assuaging the concerns of minorities and distancing itself from these members, asserting that it respects all religions and strongly denounces the insult of any religious personality. Over a dozen Muslim countries have condemned the controversial remarks. Delhi Police has registered an FIR against Sharma, Jindal and some others in connection with the remarks on the Prophet. Mahmud said there are some "fanatic" groups in Bangladesh who, despite being very few in numbers and not getting any kind of support, make noises vigorously. He said that sometimes the statements made by these groups manage to grab media attention in India."The same thing happens here in Bangladesh as well," the minister said, adding that sometimes statements made by leaders in India against Bangladesh and its people due to domestic politics get headlines here.We have very close relations with India and we understand that because of internal politics leaders say a lot of things. We do not expect any clarification regarding such speeches," Mahmud said in response to a question on Union Home Minister Amit Shah's comments. In one of his speeches, he referred to Bangladeshi migrants as "termites." The minister said that the Indian government had provided 110 ambulances to Dhaka during the time of the coronavirus pandemic and it is an example newspaper. Published by Associate Journals Ltd, the newspaper is owned by Young Indian Pvt Limited which has Rahul and Sonia Gandhi as promoters and shareholders. Rahul and Sonia Gandhi are currently out on bail in the case. Further weighing in on the issue, CM Sarma denounced the presence of protestors who had gathered outside the ED office in Delhi to show solidarity with the Gandhi scion. "Through his drama, Rahul Gandhi has proven that he has done something wrong. Otherwise, he would've gone there silently and given a statement to media later," Sarma said. "But procession was taken out and he appeared before ED with an army. India has changed, nobody will be scared of you now". He even alleged that Rahul Gandhi wanted to scare ED with his popularity with an intention to steer clear of any action against him. The questioning of the senior Congress leaders and the Gandhis is a part of the ED's investigation to understand the shareholding pattern, financial transactions, and role of the promoters of Young Indian and AJL, officials said. The probe agency had registered a fresh case under the criminal provisions of the PMLA after a trial court took cognizance of an Income Tax Department probe against Young Indian Pvt Ltd on the basis of a private criminal complaint filed by BJP leader Subramanian Swamy in 2013.Dr Swamy had accused Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, and others of conspiring to cheat and misappropriate funds, with Young Indian Pvt Ltd paying only Rs 50 lakh to obtain the right to recover Rs 90.25 crore that Associate Journals Ltd owed to the Congress.

Criminals rule the roost

Punjab. This incident brought the focus on the lesser-known but prevalent gang culture of Punjab. In the past two days, there have been three murders in the holy city of Amritsar alone. In one of the cases on Saturday, Charandeep Singh Babba, son of a Municipal Councillor allegedly shot dead Gurpartap Singh Raja while his friend Rishi Chaudhary was seriously injured over a property dispute. In another case, a 35 years old youth Harpinder Singh was shot dead by a couple of masked bike riders while Singh was on way to Golden Temple to pay obeisance along with his family in the wee hour of Sunday. In another case, the body of Kamini Devi who runs a grocery shop was found in her house under suspicious circumstances. Police are of the view that burglars had broken open Kamini's house and robbed her gold jewellery and other expensive household stuff before allegedly strangulating her. The general presumption is that criminals have no fear of police and the lack of delivering quick justice only encourages them to commit crimes and go scot-free."The incidents of gun violence have increased in Punjab, every month we get as many as two cases of gun violence which were not so about four to five years ago which is an unhealthy trend that has triggered panic in the society "observed Dr Avtar Singh of Amandeep Mendicity. Dr Avtar, who is also a philanthropist, suggested bringing awareness to the general public against the personification of gun culture, especially among youth.

West Bengal Assembly passes bill to make Mamata Banerjee chancellor of state universities

Kolkata, June 13: The West Bengal assembly on Monday passed a bill that sought to replace Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee as the chancellor of all state-run universities, amid opposition by the BJP legislators. State education minister Bratya Basu, after introducing The West Bengal University Laws (Amendment) Bill, 2022 in the Hous, said there was "nothing wrong" with the chief minister taking over as the chancellor."Why can't the chief minister be the chancellor of state universities if the Prime Minister is the chancellor of a central university- Visva Bharati? You can go through the recommendations of the Punchhi Commission."The governor, who is the present chancellor, has violated protocols on various occasions," Basu said. The bill was passed after 182 members voted in favour of the legislation and 40 against it in the 294-member Assembly. Opposing the bill, the opposition BJP alleged that appointing the chief minister as chancellor would lead to direct "political interference" in the state's higher education system."The state government wants to control everything. The decision to appoint the CM as chancellor of universities is being taken to facilitate direct interference of the ruling party in the state's education system," BJP MLA Agnimitra Paul alleged.

Guwahati, June 13 : The Assam government is keeping a close watch on the law and order situation in the state, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said on Saturday, amid communal tensions in other parts of the country.Speaking to reporters here, Sarma said strict vigil is being maintained to ensure communal harmony in the state."We are keeping a watch on law and order, and also ensuring that communal harmony is maintained," he said.Asked about the comments made by now suspended BJP spokespersons Nupur Sharma and Naveen Jindal that triggered violence in some states, Sarma said, "The Government of India has already reacted to it and the statement is in the public domain. After that, I don't think that a state government has anything new to add."The state Congress and Assam Jatiya Parishad (AJP) have filed separate police complaints against Sharma and Jindal for their remarks. Police are, however, yet to register any case on the basis of the complaints.

Rugby union pays tribute to Phil Bennett, who has died aged 73

London, June 13 : The world of rugby has united in tribute to Phil Bennett, one of the greatest fly-halves to play for Wales and the British and Irish Lions. The 73year-old, famed for his thrilling attacking play, has died after a long illness. An integral member of a golden Welsh generation, he represented his country in 29 Tests, scored 166 points and helped secure two Five Nations grand slams, including the 1978 crown when he scored two tries in a 16-7 win over France in Cardiff.Famed for his skilful play, his range of passes and his anklesnapping sidesteps, Bennett, affectionately known as 'Benny', is universally regarded as one of Wales' best ever players. He was the lynchpin in a team that dominated northern hemisphere rugby in the 1970s alongside Gareth Edwards, Derek Quinnell, JPR Williams and Gerald Davies.Born in the village of Felinfoel near Llanelli on 24 October 1948, he made his debut for Llanelli RFC at 18 and would represent the club 413 times, accumulating 2,535 points across 15 seasons. He also captained the side for six years.Paying tribute on their website, the Scarlets said: "A player with stardust in his boots, he possessed a sidestep that would mesmerise defenders - his jinking run to spark 'the greatest try ever scored' for the Barbarians against New Zealand in Cardiff in 1973 will live long in rugby folklore."The statement quoted Bennett's former club captain and Wales and Lions teammate Delme Thomas, who said: "He was the best fly-half I have ever seen."

Bennett inherited the Welsh No 10 jersey from another legend, Barry John, who retired a year after orchestrating a Lions series win in New Zealand in 1971. Bennett was born for the role and forged a scintillating union with Edwards at scrum-half. His first Lions tour was to South Africa in 1974 and he was at the heart of a team dubbed "The Invincibles". The tourists won 21 of their 22 matches and the Test series 3-0, with one game drawn. Bennett top scored with 103 points. He was captain for the tour to New Zealand three years later in a series the hosts won 3-1 but Bennett was again top scorer with 125 points. He did not only inspire on the field. As captain of Wales in 1977, he gave a rousing speech before a clash with England. He spoke of how his nation had been "exploited" by the English and how their larger neighbours had "taken our coal, our water, our steel". The rallying cry worked as Wales won 14-9 in front of a frothing Cardiff crowd.

'Nobody saw it coming' Steve Clarke searches for answers to Scotland slump

London, June 13 : As Steve Clarke stood in a corridor in the bowels of the Aviva Stadium on Saturday evening, it seemed incredible to recall Scotland entered this international window while riding the wave of an eightmatch unbeaten run.A painful World Cup exit at the hands of Ukraine - coming before victory over a hapless Armenia team - was one thing. Embarrassment against the Republic of Ireland, who swaggered to a 3-0 victory, quite another. Clarke cut a more disconsolate figure than at any point in his three-year tenure. ### Darwin Núñez to have Monday medical before sealing •100m Liverpool deal

London, June 13 : Darwin Núñez is due in England on Monday to take his medical after Liverpool sealed a •100m (£85.4m) agreement with Benfica to sign the striker. Liverpool will pay a guaranteed •80m and up to another •20m in addons. Núñez was in Almería on Sunday, where he played before joining Benfica, and is scheduled to fly from Spain to England. The 22-year-old Uruguay international has agreed a six-year contract and via the add-ons will likely become the most expensive player in Liverpool's history, his fee surpassing the £75m paid to acquire Virgil van Dijk from Southampton in January 2018.Núñez was the top scorer in Portugal's top flight in the 2021-22 season with 26 goals and also scored in each leg of Champions League quarter-final with Liverpool in April and after the first leg in Lisbon he was showered with praise

by Jürgen Klopp."

Extremely good-looking boy, eh? And a decent player as well. Really good, really good, you have to say," the Liverpool manager said. "I knew before, of course, but he played pretty much in front of me with his tough battles with [Ibrahima] Konaté."Klopp added: "Physically strong, quick, plus calm around his finish, when he finished the goal off he was really calm. Good, really, really good. How we say in these situations, if he stays healthy, it's a big career ahead of him. "Núñez's career will now involve playing on Merseyside as Klopp continues the process of refreshing his side. The striker, who has 11 caps and two goals for his country, will feature in the centre of Liverpool's front line, with Luis Díaz more often than not playing to his left and Mohamed Salah to his right.

Andy Murray struggles with injury in Stuttgart final defeat to Berrettini

London, June 13 : the tennis world converged in Paris for the second grand slam tournament of the season at the end of last month, Andy Murray chose a different path. He is playing at the highest level of professional tennis with a metal right hip, after all, so it is advisable for him to preserve his body when he can. While his opponents were still playing matches he trained, built his form and grew accustomed to grass long before most others and throughout his week in Stuttgart his results reflected well on his preparation. But on Sunday afternoon, in his first grass court final since 2016, Murray's tournament ended with some concern as he struggled with an abdominal injury and was beaten by Matteo Berrettini, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3."Sorry I couldn't get over the line today but there has been a lot of progress the last few weeks," Murray said. "I'm looking forward to what the future has to hold and feeling a lot better about my game. Hopefully my body can hold up a little while longer, so I can keep playing matches like this."After reaching the final without dropping a set, an even greater challenge stood before Murray in last year's Wimbledon finalist Berrettini, who is back from a three-month layoff after hand surgery. The Italian immediately imposed himself, eviscerating Murray's second serve to secure an early break, then dominating with his enormous forehand and serve in the first set. Throughout the second set Murray held his serve but at 4-4 he faced three break points with the match hanging by a thread. Murray saved them all, he kept himself ahead on serve and then his sustained pressure on Berrettini finally yielded a breakthrough as Murray broke to love to force a third set. As soon as Murray had levelled, though, the match was to all intents finished. After an error-strewn opening service game, Murray immediately called the trainer. He was unable to serve at full pace and then in the middle of his service game at 2-4 he underwent another medical timeout. Against one of the biggest servers in the world, a hobbled Murray fought but was unable to make any further impression. Afterwards, Murray said it was a left ab injury that he sustained in the third set while serving, rather than a left hip injury as initially reported: "It's a really long time [since] I have played nine matches in 14 days," said Murray, who also played in Surbiton last week.

Inter-state Athletics Aishwarya only behind Anju in long jump on Indian soil

Chennai, June 13: Long jumper Aishwarya Babu may have recorded an impressive leap of 6.73m, the best on Indian soil since 2005, on Sunday but it still isn't her pet event. In fact, coming into the competition, the 24-year-old triple jump specialist hardly practised for the long jump, her "B event", as her coach likes to put it."Not really training specifically for the long jump. Obviously, something must be working because she is jumping 6.73m in the long jump," says coach Sri Aiyappa who has trained 2010 Asian Game heptathlon bronze medallist and wife Pramila Aiyyapa. Aishwarya's attempt, which came in the qualification round, also helped her breach the Commonwealth Games entry mark of 6.50m. Her leap makes her the second-best alltime Indian jumper after the legendary Anju Bobby George who holds the national mark of 6.83m, set in 2004. Anju, India's lone World Championships medallist, still has three other jumps(2001-6.74m, 2002-6.75m, 2005-6.75m) better than Aishwarya's 6.73m. Although Aishwarya did not aim for Anju's national mark, her jump has made her reassess her targets. "She will break Anju's record," says coach Sri Aiyappa. Aishwarya was spotted by Pramila during a Railways trial two years ago. "Her speed down the runway is something. Her two biggest traits are her speed and explosive size," says Aiyappa. "She almost flies off the runway."Aishwarya will be back on field at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium in Chennai on Monday for her pet event, the triple jump, where she has already achieved the qualification mark for the Birmingham CWG. Aishwarya is now second in the triple jump India season-best list with 13.94m and has reached the top of the corresponding long jump charts overtaking Ancy Joseph (6.55m). Sunday's leap not only took everyone present at the venue by surprise but Aishwarya's coach himself. She had never measured distances close to this mark even during practice."She was jumping 6.40 in practice (her previous best was 6.52m at the Open Nationals in 2021). So, I knew she had it in her. But this jump was surprising. The main thing now is for her to do well in both the finals here and go home with two naability. In fact, if you see tional records," says says in a lighter vein.

her, you will ask 'she jumps confidently Aiyappa 6.73m?' She's half Anju's Even though long-jump is still her "B" event, they are not shutting the door on it. "Right now, she is training for the triple jump but she has done great in the long jump. So, there is a pattern and we will follow it. But if she continues to do exceedingly well in long jump. we might change our plan altogether. To be honest, we never gave long jump a serious thought until today. But today's jump has changed everything," says Aiyappa.At the finals, Aishwarya will face tough competition from Joseph and the prodigious Shaili, Singh who is recovering from an injury. It will also be a sort of battle of mates as Shaili's coach Bobby George is a close friend of Aiyappa's. "We know each other really well. We were roommates back in the day. So, this battle is kind of personal (laughs). After Aishwarya breaks the national record, I will go talk to him," Aiyappa
